PROFILE

I am a Full-Stack Web Developer with a strong passion for solving complex technical challenges and delivering clean, efficient solutions. Known for rapid learning and meticulous debugging, I analyze problems systematically, communicate clearly with teams and clients, and adapt quickly to new tools and environments while working toward faster, higher-quality project completion. I bring both soft skills—collaboration, active listening, and reliability—and hard skills such as full-stack development, problem analysis, and step-by-step debugging, with the goal of continuously expanding my knowledge and expertise while contributing meaningfully to innovative development teams.

WORK EXPERIENCE

- H.R.D. SINGAPORE PTE., LTD 2024 - 2026
Software Developer
  - Migrated legacy systems from XPA and Excel into modern, web-based applications to improve usability, accessibility, and performance.
  - Completed assigned development tasks on time while meeting project specifications and client requirements.
  - Responded to user and stakeholder requests by implementing new features, enhancements, and system adjustments.
  - Presented completed systems to users and management, clearly explaining functionality, workflows, and technical decisions.
  - Analyzed issues and performed step-by-step debugging to ensure stable and reliable application performance.
  - Collaborated with team members to streamline development processes and support successful project delivery.
